Freeport, Oct. 23.—The coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Philip Kiefer, who committed suicide by hanging himself at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fiory, on Third street, returned a rather peculiar and unusual verdict.

The verdict was to the effect that the deceased came to his death by hanging himself, the act being committed with suicidal intent. The jury then recommended that the states attorney investigate the actions of Mrs. Kiefer and Charles West, inasmuch as they believe the actions of the couple were such that they might have influenced Kiefer to commit the act.

ALL HOPE OF FINAL ADJOURNMENT VANISHED THIS AFTERNOON.

INSPECTION BLANKS FOR STATE SCHOOLS

FIRE MARSHAL'S OFFICE WANTS INFORMATION OF SAFETY PROVISIONS.

The state fire marshal department has had printed a supply of inspection blanks for use of school pupils in the cities of the state. These blanks are supplied to the teachers of the schools, usually by the chief of the fire department of the city.

On these blanks are a number of questions relative to fire conditions and fire hazards and the pupils take the blanks to their home where it is properly filled out and returned to the teacher, who later on delivers them to the chief of the fire department.

Through these inspection reports the chief is often brought in touch with minor defects in homes of the city, which otherwise might escape his attention, and many other defects are brought to light which are immediately removed by the owner or occupant of the building.

OFFICIAL SAYS THAT LINE FROM PRINCETON TO DEKALB IS PLANNED.

START EXTENSION IN SPRING

Money for the Work to Rochelle Has Been Promised to Stockholders.

Construction work on the extension and improvement of the Lee County Central Electric railway will probably start in the spring, the action of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission this week in allowing the issue of $10,000 stock making it possible for the promoters to go ahead with their plans.

An official of the company states that the capital for the project is available, having been promised previously, subject to this action on the part of the Utilities Commission. It will be subscribed in the form of stock, and no bonds will be issued.

If present plans are carried out the road will further be extended from Rochelle to DeKalb, where it will connect with lines running from Chicago, and from Amboy to Princeton, where connection will be made with other lines in such a way as to afford a continuous route from Chicago to St. Louis.

It is stated on good authority that the electric line is now operating at a profit and is on a sounder financial basis since the reorganization of the company than at any other time in its history.

MENDOTA SCENE OF SECOND SHOOTING

MAN SHOT WIFE THERE FROM WHOM HE WAS SEPARATED.

INFLECTED ONLY SCALP WOUND

Called for Woman at Another Man's House and Started Out for Walk.

Mendota, Oct. 23.—Reiley Moore and Mrs. LeRoy Houck are both natives of North Carolina. Mrs. Houck and her husband do not live together and it is said that Mr. Moore had become infatuated with Mrs. Houck. Whether his advances were received with favor or spurned is not known, however. Mr. Moore visited the home of a friend near the Q stock yards where Mrs. Houck was at the time, and calling her outside, they walked down the road a short distance. It is said that Moore suddenly grabbed her and pulling a revolver from his pocket told her that he was going to kill her. All effort she could make to tear herself loose were futile and with the revolver pointed directly at her head he pulled the trigger, and she fell to the ground in a faint, stunned and bleeding. Moore evidently thought he had murdered the girl he loved and fled for parts unknown, at present not having been arrested. The woman finally regained consciousness and went to the home of her parents, north of the subway where the story of the shooting was learned. The police were notified and a physician summoned who found the wound would not be of a serious character. The bullet entered the scalp near the ear and came out at the back of the head. The affair created a great deal of excitement among our peaceful and law-abiding citizens.

CIRCUIT JUDGE AT MORRISON REFUSED TO HEAR THE ARGUMENTS FOR CHANGE OF VENUE FOR BYERS SISTER.

Hearing Was Delayed Because the Defendants Had to Go From Sterling.

BULLETIN 3:30 P. M.

(Special to The Telegraph) Morrison, Oct. 23.—No action has yet resulted in the petition of Mrs. Emma Hutton and Miss Lillian Byers for a change of venue in their trial for murder, the delay being caused by the non-presence of the women, who are now enroute to this city from Sterling in an automobile.

It was thought that the attorneys could do all that was necessary here today, and accordingly the defendants did not come to Morrison. The court order that they be brought into court was a distinct surprise.

Morrison, Oct. 23.—Attorneys for the state and defense alike were given a distinct surprise this afternoon when Judge Frank D. Ramsay, after calling the Whiteside county court to order, left the bench with the statement that inasmuch as Judge Graves would hear the case against the two girls it was proper that he should hear the arguments on the petition for a change of venue.

Judge Graves on Stand. Judge Graves immediately took the stand and issued an order that the two defendants be brought into court at once.

This action was also a surprise to the attorneys for the defense, as the two women were in Sterling, but word was sent to that city at once and the women were hurried to the county seat in an automobile.

Presents Affidavits

Judge H. C. Ward, attorney for the defense, presented to the court an affidavit signed by twelve men in which they express their belief that the women could not get a fair trial in the county, and also a statement signed by two Whiteside county men that they believed both Judge Ramsay and Judge Graves were prejudiced against the women.

Counter Statements.

States Attorney Ludens met the action of the defense with affidavits of 189 prominent citizens of the county, including the supervisors and nearly all of the public officials, expressing the belief in the ability to secure a fair and impartial hearing and trial for the women.

DIXON TO PLAY IN ROCKFORD SATURDAY

WILL TACKLE SECOND TEAM OF FOREST CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

The Dixon union high school football team will go to Rockford Saturday to play the second team of the Rockford high school. The game to be a preliminary to a contest between the Elgin and Rockford teams for the championship of Northern Illinois. The Dixon lads will go against a stiff proposition in the Rockford game, as the Forest City second aggregation is composed of players practically as good as the first bunch. But the great speed of the locals may be counted upon to keep them in the game at all times, although they will be greatly outweighed.

The Rockford Republic has the following to say about the game:

Coach Dunn's second team of the Rockford high school squad faces a genuine test in its game of Saturday afternoon, when the local youngsters go up against the Dixon high.

Dixon has shown enough strength to class it with some of the teams on the local first eleven schedule, and the approaching contest is going to be anything but a romp for the Rockford Redwings.

The most notable achievement of the Dixon eleven was to bury the DeKalb team, and DeKalb is rated with having a fair aggregation. It is going to be a big thing for the local youngsters if they can succeed in hanging it on Dixon on Saturday, and to get his players in the best of shape Coach Dunn is working them to the limit this week.

The game with Dixon will start at 1:45 o'clock and the Rockford-Elgin contest will begin promptly at 2:45 o'clock.

DEMENTTOWN DOINGS

OUR BOYS and GIRLS

TWO GOOD TRICKS.

How a Coin Can Be Flipped Up the Sleeve to Mystification of Friends.

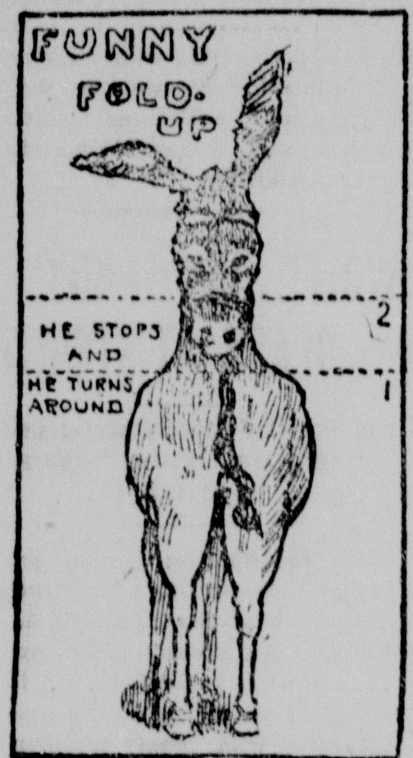

Take a quarter of a dollar between the thumb and forefinger of the right hand; then, by a rapid twist of the fingers, twirl the coin by the same motion that you would use to spin a tumbler, at the same time rapidly close your hand, and the coin will disappear up your coat sleeve; you can now open your hand, and, much to the astonishment of your audience, the coin will not be there.

This capital trick may be varied in a hundred ways. One good way is to take three dimes or quarters, and, concealing one in the palm of your left hand, place the other two, one each between the thumb and forefinger of each hand, then give the coin in the right hand the twist as already described, and, closing both hands quickly, the coin in the right hand will disappear up your sleeve, and the left hand, on being unclosed, will be found to contain two quarters, while that which was in the right will have disappeared. Thus you will make the surprised spectators believe that you conjured the coin from the right hand into the left.

Stick a fork or any pointed article in the wall, about four or five feet from the floor, and on the end of it place a piece of candy; then tell some person to place his forefinger by the side of the candy when he has measured the height carefully, tell him to walk backward about five yards, then shut one eye and walk forward and try to knock the candy off the fork with one blow. The probabilities are that he will make the attempt a dozen times before he is successful. When he is successful he may eat the candy.

Fold on the dotted lines so No. 1 will overlap No. 2.—Philadelphia Record.

Proverb Charades.

For parlor charades gotten up in the usual way (that is, with one-half the company acting, the other half guessing), proverbs are excellent. The principle words are acted instead of syllables of a single word, either with pantomime or improvised dialogues. When all the words have been guessed the morality stands revealed. Or, for a humorous game let the entertainer distribute a square of pasteboard with rubber-tipped pencils. Each guest receives a square, and at the same time a folded slip of paper. On the folded paper is written some proverb which he or she is required to illustrate by a drawing. At the end of ten minutes the illustrations are collected and passed around the circle, players being required to say what saws are represented. Results are most laughable.

A prize can be awarded for the cleverest drawing if desired, but this is not necessary. The fun of drawing and guessing the subjects will be found sufficient incentive to make the game a merry one.—New York Press.

An Alarming Discovery.

Now listen, children, young and old, While this alarming tale is told, There is a plot not far away 'Tis at our very doors to-day, Daily it grows without retard It is the grass-plot in the yard.—

FABLES FOR THE FAIR

BY JOSEPHINE DODGE DASKAM

THE WOMAN WHO COULD NOT HELP HERSELF

There was once a Woman who had Never Learned how to Swim, although she Went in Bathing every day in the Summer. She had a Friend who had Acquired this Art with Some Trouble, and was very Proud of her Proficiency in it.

"It is Absurd," said this Friend, "to Live Near the Water and Not Swim. It Makes you very Attractive to Good Swimmers if you can Go Out with them, and they do Not Feel that you are a Drag on their Pleasures. What would you Do in Case you Fell off the Pier? Now, Watch me!"

With these words she Dived off into the Water and Swam about By Herself.

"It is a Good Thing to have a Woman Swim so Well," said one of the

SPENT THE REST OF THE DAY INQUIRING AFTER HER HEALTH. Men near by. "Now, if Any of the Children Fall Into the Water, She can Rescue Them."

Just then the Woman who Could Not help Herself uttered a Scream and Fell into the Sea. Instantly Five Men leaped in to Rescue Her, and Spent the Rest of the Day Resuscitating her and Inquiring How she Was, leaving the Swimmer to Dive by Herself.

This teaches us that Nothing Succeeds like Distress.

PISTOL LIGHTS GAS.

When the Trigger is Pulled Flint Emerges and Sparks Fly Out.

An invention so spectacular in nature as to seem almost a trick is the pistol-lighter devised by a New Jersey man. By pulling the trigger of this pistol a series of sparks fly out of the muzzle and ignite the gas from a wall-jet, kitchen range, or automobile lamp, as the case may be. In the barrel of the pistol is a rod of flint. Penetrating the barrel near the open end is a steel cap. The pulling of the trigger shoots the flint forth, and as it scratches beneath the steel a shower of sparks shoot out that have power to ignite the gas, but die so quickly that they would not burn woodwork or hangings or ignite anything less inflammable than gas. By pressing the plunger in front of the trigger the pistol is reloaded for another charge. As the sparks grow fever by use of the implement, the steel cap can be screwed tighter and the flint turned over to offer a fresh surface to it. Matches are not needed with this weapon in the house.

The Old Dinner Bell.

What man, whose boyhood days were spent on the farm, does not in his recollection of those days recall with pleasure the voice of the old dinner bell ringing out and inviting the tired, anxious and hungry boy to stop work for the noon day meal.

There is perhaps more genuine sentiment connected with this feature of the farmer boy's life than any other.

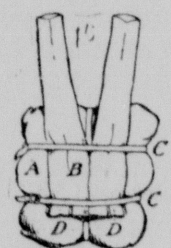

There is a touch of democracy in the dinner bell, in that it symbolizes the spirit of enjoyable freedom and independence in agricultural life. You remember, when your neighbor's bell rang before your own; you wondered whether the folks at the house had forgotten you and that you were hungry. Then soon came the welcome sound waves moving swiftly over hill and across the gullies, until they reached your ear, in rhythmic cadence. Then in answer to the call of your own dinner bell came the peal of the neighbors across the fields; and another over the hill and still another down the road, until each one seemed to be a special note in a grand musical selection. These dinner bells in a measure bespoke the general harmony between neighbors and friends in the surrounding farm districts. Your farmer's boy knew every bell by its peculiar note, and when the vibrations of the resonant metal pulsed through the air it came like a cheery greeting from a friendly neighbor.

Sometimes when the wind was in the wrong direction and the day was cloudy, so that neither bell could be heard, nor the position of the sun indicated the noon hour, how the keen ear of your faithful horse would detect the welcome note of the bell, and he would let you know of his impression by an intelligent whinny; how you would stop at the end of the field, pat that faithful beast on the head, in kindly appreciation of the imparted news.

We may forget many of the scenes and impressions of our farmer boy days but we shall always have a tender spot in our hearts for our old friend, the dinner bell.—Indiana Farmer.

Unique Pack Harness.

When carrying a pack I had always been troubled with sore shoulders, because the straps were hard and sharp. To get around this unpleasant feature I hit upon the following simple plan, as shown in the drawing: Roll up pack (A), lay the extra pair of trousers (B) on the pack, fasten them with straps (CC), turn trousers legs down to (DD), and pin with horse blanket safety pins below lower strap (C). The trousers are soft and wide, and do not cut the shoulders as a leather pack harness does, and are handy for a change if you get wet. Use the pins in camp to pin a towel or a dish cloth to a limb to dry, and you will know it won't blow down.—Grant Thompson, Missoula, Mont.

Buttermilk as Food.

As a wholesome and nutritious food buttermilk is valuable. It has three per cent. proteids, and a quart contains one-fourth as much proteid as a man needs in a day. It is said to possess hygienic value as well, the theory being that lactic-acid bacteria may grow in the intestines, crowding out other desirable kinds.

QUARANTINE WILL BE UPHELD AT ZION CITY

Voliva Would Shoot Any One Attempting Vaccination.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—Owing to the opposition which has been manifested in Zion City to vaccination Dr. C. E. Crawford, inspector of the state board of health, has been dispatched there by Dr. C. St. Clair D. Drake, secretary of the state board of health, with instructions to see that the quarantine in the twelve cases of small pox in the city be rigorously maintained.

Orator Voliva is reported as threatening violence to those who attempt to enforce vaccination.

A few days ago the state board of health received a report that there were a number of cases supposed to be small pox in that city, but that the local physicians had pronounced it chicken pox. Dr. Crawford, who investigated the matter, reported that he had found twelve cases of small pox, and that he instructed the local health authorities to strictly enforce the quarantine of the houses in which the cases existed.

The order has been complied with as far as the state board is aware, but Secretary St. Clair D. Drake is not going to take any chances.

Carrollton, Ill., Oct. 23.—Thomas Parker, one of the wealthiest residents of Green county, was found dead in the yard of his home in Carrollton when one of his daughters went to call him into the house.

The Parker home is in the center of a block of ground and the members of the family who were in the house heard no cry from Parker when he was stricken. Death was from heart disease. Parker was a retired farmer the owner of about 3,000 acres of valuable land north of Jerseyville and of other properties. He is survived by his widow and six children.

MULFORD WINS RACE ON NINETY-NINTH LAP

Mechanician of Burman Special Probably Fatally Hurt.

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 23.—Bob Burman of Detroit, Mich., driving a Peugeot car, lost the 100 mile race here to Ralph Mulford of Brooklyn on the ninety-ninth lap, when his engine faltered. Mulford drove a Duesenberg car. The time for the 100 miles was 92:52½. Mulford thus established a new world's record, lowering the old world's mark of 94:29:25, held by Burman.

At the beginning of the 100 mile lap Burman's machine came to a stop, Mulford passing him at the 99½ mark. It was the greatest race ever staged on a one mile track. Burman ran out of gasoline, which brought him to a stop. Burman was second and made the 100 miles in 93:08½. Tom Alley, who finished third, covered the distance in 93:37½.

Fritz Walker, mechanic for Jack Gable, driving a Burman special, was probably fatally hurt when the car struck soft dirt at the far end of the track at the three-quarter stretch on the thirty-sixth lap.

He was pinned under the car, when it crashed through the fence, sustaining internal injuries and a bad injury to the head. He was rushed to a hospital. Gable escaped unhurt. Walker's home is in St. Louis.

Burman broke the world's record for fifty miles on a dirt circular track with 45:48. He led at the end of fifty-two miles by twenty-five yards.

Miss Kent is especially gifted in her art and no doubt many will take the opportunity of receiving instruction from her.

Class Party.

The eighth grade of the North Dixon school taught by Miss Ella Kentner will have a masquerade party this evening at the J. W. Leivan home on E. Chamberlain street. About 9 o'clock the guests were invited to the rear of the residence to inspect the new garage which had just recently been finished. Much to the astonishment of the guests the garage had been transformed into a beautiful dining room. The decorations were oak branches, autumn leaves and appropriate Hallowe'en trimmings. On the middle of the floor stood the big dining table groaning under its load of roast turkey and such other good things as make up a bountiful dinner, which had been prepared by Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Robbins. After the guests had done justice to the dinner the remaining hours of the evening were spent in much pleasure and a departed leaving appropriate tokens of remembrance, and voting Webster and Elmer royal entertainers and wishing them many returns of the day.

S. D. Junior Dancing Party.

Again the hearts of the Dixon high school students are alive with excitement and joy at the anticipation of a happy evening together when they shall dance and sway to the now exciting notes of a thrilling tango, and then to the soft strains of the Dream Waltz, laughing and care free, what real joy is theirs. The dancing parties this winter will be one of the bright lights of the social world in this city and it is hoped the high school students will favor the dancing set with one of their delightful dancing parties every Friday night, as it is only once that the happiness of being a student of dear old D. H. S. is yours. The "Bunch" is always welcome at these parties and it is hoped that they will turn out in goodly numbers at the dance this evening, as it will only mean more fun later on. Those who are away to school are greatly missed, but no doubt they will be welcomed home at the holidays with a dancing party that will never be forgotten in D. H. S. history. The days of romance are not yet dead and it behooves the good looking young foot ball student to reserve his strength and prowess for the process of yanking hefty damsels and dames around in the one-step or the hesitation. "Will see you at the dance tonight."

The Color of Water.

The waters of the seas, lakes, rivers and streams in general are very often colored. For instance, the water of the Mediterranean sea is not colorless, but greenish blue; also there is a brilliant red river in South America. The St. Lawrence, in Canada, is pale green, and the Ottawa golden brown; where these two rivers meet quite frequently whole broad patches remain unmixed. Here is a gold patch and there a green one. Otherwise than this, water reflects the colors of its surroundings, and a so-called "Emerald pool," in the White mountains, is green because the birches on its borders in early summer are brilliant green. The Blue Grotto, in Capri, Italy, shows a remarkably rich color, near to green-blue, because all the light received in that grotto comes through the water at its entrance and, as I said, the Mediterranean is green-blue. The water of the geysers in the Yellowstone park are also colored by natural mineral dyes. You can dye your own glass of water by a piece of the bloodroot plant. Try it. That will be a vegetable dye. GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

MAKE IT THICK, GLOSSY, WAVY, LUXURANT AND REMOVE ALL DANDRUFF.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandierine" hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten the cloth with a little Dandierine and draw carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandierine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandierine from any druggist or toilet counter and just try it.

OUR BOYS and GIRLS

THE GIANTS OF EVERY DAY.

Looking up from the picture book he was eagerly reading, Teddie exclaimed: "I'd like to be Jack the Giant Killer, and frighten all the old giants away!"

The other children laughed heartily at Teddie's choice, and Bob remarked: "There never was such a man, Ted. It's only a foolish story, you know. There aren't any giants."

Teddie looked disappointed. This was taking away the charm from his book. "There are giants, aren't there, Uncle John?" he asked, throwing down his book and coming over to his uncle's armchair.

Uncle John laid down his paper and took the little fellow upon his knee. "Giants, Teddie?" he repeated gravely. "Yes, my boy, there are a great many giants all around us, and we have to learn to be good fighters if we do not wish to be overcome by them."

Teddie beamed triumphantly, but the other children opened their eyes in wonder, and Alice asked: "What do you mean, Uncle John?"

"My dear Alice," he answered, "there is one dreadful giant, named Imperance, that is harder to conquer than any that the famous Jack ever vanquished; and there is another, called Selfishness, a terrible monster with nine heads; and a third named Cruelty; and a fourth named Dishonesty. We might mention many more."

"Oh, that kind!" said Bob. "I meant there were no real giants. Well, these are fairly real giants, Bob. Did you ever try hard to fight one?"

Bob looked sober. "I don't believe I've tried as hard as I might, sir," he confessed frankly. "I think my worst giant is Selfishness."

"And mine is Idleness," whispered Alice.

"What is mine? It must be Quick Temper," admitted Nellie, blushing over memories of recent defeats.

Little Ted looked perplexed. They were talking in riddles. "Has everybody got a giant?" he ventured.

The others laughed at this, but Uncle John answered kindly: "I'm afraid so, Ted. Anything that keeps us from doing good is our giant that we have to fight. Have you one, my little man?"

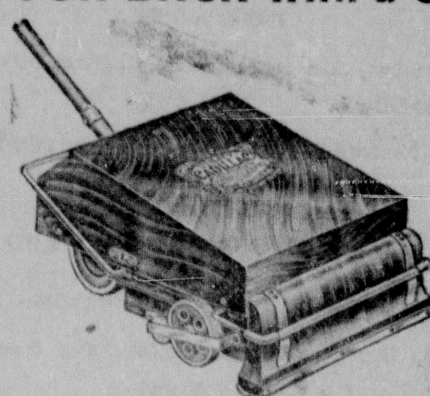

The child's face flushed as he replied, after a moment's hesitation: "Yes, there are lots of them. There're my cross words to the nurse this morning, and I disobeyed mamma, and I broke papa's penknife that he told me not to touch, and I, oh—There Ted stopped suddenly and hid his face on uncle's shoulder.

The children didn't laugh that time.—Little Chronicle.

Amsterdam, Oct. 23.—German troops were bent again in a renewal of their attacks at Neuport to cross the River Yser, the dykes of which have been cut. The battle at Neuport was the most spectacular of the war by reason of the participation of British warships and a fleet of English aeroplanes which hovered over the positions held by the Kaiser's forces and signalled the exact range to the guns on shore and at sea.

Continuous bombardment night and day is being directed against the German lines from Ostend to the Yser. French cavalry has arrived at Neuport to reinforce the Belgian army.

First Line Troops Defeated.
Paris, Oct. 23.—Huge columns of the Kaiser's first line troops hastily concentrated on the center of the battle line met defeat when they attempted to cut through the French front at two points—west of Craonne and near Souain.

In Belgium the allies were victorious at Dixmude and at Ypres. German attacks to recapture Armentieres failed.

Allies Advance in Argonne.
The official communique issued at 11:05 o'clock at night says:

"The activity displayed by the enemy yesterday has not weakened. Between the North sea and La Bassée the battle has continued with the same violence, but the Germans have not been able to force back the Belgian army nor the Anglo-French troops. A similar situation exists between Arras and the Oise. The enemy has made great efforts which have nowhere been crowned with success."

"In the Woivre we have repulsed an attack on Champlon."

LEAKE For Clerk of Circuit Court EDWIN S. ROSECRANS

ROSECRANS FOR CIRCUIT CLERK.

When the republicans of Lee county nominated Edwin S. Rosecrans for their circuit clerk at the primary elections this fall, they placed on the county ticket a man who has added a great amount of strength and whose acquisition in the list of candidates is of great value to the ticket and the county as a whole, for Mr. Rosecrans is an ideal candidate for this office.

Edwin Rosecrans is a young man, comparatively. At politics he is new, but he is the sort of fellow that needs no training in the happy faculty of making friends wherever he appears, for he is of true steel and his worth is written on his face and in his manners.

The almost unanimous backing that he is receiving from his fellow residents of Ashton and vicinity is sufficient recommendation for the voters of the rest of the county to accept.

Until the opening of this campaign Mr. Rosecrans was politically unknown in Lee county and, in fact, outside of his own community; little had been heard of him because he had had no occasion for or opportunity of acquainting himself with the residents of other parts of the county. But where he lived, his people knew him, and the people of Ashton would never have given him the remarkable and undivided support they did at the primaries had they not been thoroughly acquainted with the man and satisfied as to his qualifications. The people of Ashton and all other parts of the county will give further proof of their confidence in Ed. Rosecrans on November third, sufficient proof to elect him as Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Ed. Rosecrans is eminently fitted to care for the exacting duties of the office of Circuit Clerk. He is keen minded, faithful to a trust, energetic and enterprising, and Lee county welcomes the opportunity to extend encouragement to a man of his stamp. Ashton deserves this office. Rosecrans deserves it. There is not a man in all the county who could fill the office better. There is no reason in the world why Ed. Rosecrans should not be elected Circuit Clerk and every reason why he should be placed in that important office.

A LIE NAILED DOWN.

Irresponsible Somebody declares that the Telegraph never published anything about the resolution passed by the board of supervisors concerning the county judge's office.

Such maudlin ramblings are not worth bothering oneself about, but while we are on the subject we might as well say that they lie and that if any one will look in the Dixon Evening Telegraph, issue of Saturday, Sept. 12th, 1914, they will find the story of the resolution in question, and they will find that it was printed in the Telegraph on the day it passed the Board of Supervisors, while our enterprising journalists down the street, who are so stirred up over our "failure" (?) to print it, did not discover that the resolution had even been passed or thought of until Wednesday, September 16th, at which time, four days after we had printed it, they "came to" and printed it themselves and thought they had scored a great "scoop."

AT THE BOILING POINT.

A certain local paper seems to be all in a ferment because the Telegraph, which they sorrowfully admit is the official newspaper of Lee county, has not yet printed the report of the proceedings of the last meeting of the Lee County Board of Supervisors.

Just to calm their feverish and hysterical walls, we will explain, and an examination of the records at the court house will verify it, that the Lee County Board of Supervisors, when it selected the Dixon Evening Telegraph as its official county newspaper, told said newspaper that they expected the Telegraph to publish the reports of the supervisors' session within ten days after the newspaper had received a copy of the report from the county clerk. We received our copy from the county clerk on Wednesday of this week. Without Divine interference and with ordinary good luck, we will print it within the ten days.

The toothpick trade is on the Fritz. Senator Fairbanks says that a big toothpick factory up in Maine has been forced to close up. There is no demand for toothpicks under a democratic administration.

Which do you prefer, Progressive Single Tax, Democratic high tax, or Republican protective tariff, low tax and general prosperity? Vote the straight republican ticket if you want the latter.

The Safety First Movement will see its first big victory when the county goes republican this fall.

The Right Way

On some bright future day, mayhap, the kings themselves will do their slaying, when wanting strife they'll go and scrap, and let their people do their haying. Then rulers of all grades and kinds must each one wield his private swatter, when they've made up their blooming minds on blood and death and fur and slaughter. The angry king will not command his subjects to go forth in armor; he'll take his broadax in his hand and swing it like a husky farmer. And while to scenes of gore he flees, and lops the arms from rival princes, his countrymen will trim their trees, and raise large crops of prunes and quinces. A few dead kings would make no odds, except to courtier and fawner, so let them battle for their gods, and for their crowns and misfit honor. I cannot see a reason why good men should into battle frolic, and lose their legs, and bleed and die, because some monarch has the colic. Most men who on grim horrors sup, on field of battle at this writing, would scratch their heads and give it up, if you should ask them why they're fighting. Some king or emperor or czar has told them they must march to glory, and from their persons have the tar knocked by the foe—the same old story. And so I'm waiting for the day when men no more to war will rally, and kings who suffer for a fray will do their scrapping in the alley.

UNITE THE OPPOSITION.

At the biennial vote-fest of the American people Nov. 3, there will be a great coming together for the purpose of expressing by popular ballot either an overwhelming verdict of approval of present conditions, or a correspondingly great demand for a radical change in conditions.

The propriety of anxiety has not been expressed, thus far. The only demand heard from up to the present time is for a change; the sooner and greater the better.

Nominally for the purpose of selecting various public officials, the November election takes on its greatest importance as the vehicle for recording popular will as relating to political policies. Those who are entirely satisfied with the effect of democratic tariff, financial and other policies of government, may show it by voting for democratic nominees for United States senator, congressmen and state and minor officials. Opposition to those policies may best be expressed by voting for republican nominees for the same offices.

It is unfortunate that the clear cut issue cannot be tried out without complication, intersected by the futile ambitions of a third party. By dividing an overwhelming majority between two parties, voters invite their own defeat.

It is a plain proposition that the progressive party, which failed to carry the state in 1912, has far less prospect of carrying it in 1914 and can only hope to defeat its natural allies, the republicans, by battling them in a three cornered contest.

Progressives co-operating with republicans can bury Roger Sullivan and the entire list of democratic nominees beneath a mountain of votes. By pulling away from the republican party to follow the single-tax standard they can only hope to bring victory to the cause they oppose.

The folly of 1912 should not be repeated in 1914. The consequences are far too serious. Let all who have the welfare of the country sincerely at heart come together under the republican banner of protection and prosperity, sound currency and property rights to give strength to their expression in favor of a change from democratic mismanagement to republican sound times.

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT.

Discussing the new currency law, President Wilson in his letter to Congressman Underwood, makes this remarkable statement: "Credit is now at the disposal of every man who can show energy and assets."

Was there ever a period in the history of this country when credit was not at the disposal of every man who could show "energy and assets"? If so, President Wilson, when?

Or has there ever existed a condition whereby a man without energy, but with assets, couldn't get all the credit his assets called for?

Assets, Mr. President, have ever been the basis of substantial credit in the United States and elsewhere, and your new currency law has in no wise modified the rule under which credit can be obtained.

The man with "energy and assets" occupies the same relation to credit that his grandsire and his great grandsire did. The new currency law has done nothing to improve his condition, nor can it.

MONEY TALKS.

Money talks, they say, and so do a good many men who have lots of money. It is a weakness they acquire with wealth.

The boasts of Roger Sullivan and Raymond Robins are striking examples of the infirmity. Since they began their campaign, the public has had little else from them save discussions concerning the size of their respective "piles" and how they managed to acquire them.

Roger insinuates that Robins didn't get his money in Alaska, where Robins tells us it was scratched out of the frozen sands. He, however, fails to say just where Robins did get his "bundle."

Raymond likewise casts reflections on Roger's bank roll, denying that it was garnered in a business way. He says Roger is a blackmailer.

Yes, money talks. And a fine line of conversation it creates when enough of it gets into action!

Being a Bull Mooser this year merely means being a Mule Booster.

VEST POCKET ESSAYS

Author of "At Good Old Siwash,"
By George Fitch.

Strassburg whose citizens wake up early each morning and run for the paper to see to what country they now belong.

is situated thirty miles east of a parapet line called the French-German boundary. It is a city of 175,000 people and 20,000 soldiers and is the capital of Alsace-Lorraine.

Strassburg has been a military stronghold ever since the eighth legion of the Romans occupied it, 1800 years ago. The French captured it in the fifth century and in the tenth century the Germans took it over and ran it until 1681, when Louis XVI. of France grabbed it and the long suffering inhabitants had to change their language once more. In 1870 the Germans landed before Strassburg with several hundred large, vicious guns and shot it so full of holes that it resembled fine Brussels lace when it surrendered seven weeks later.

Strassburg has been a German city since 1870. It is the only city in the world which possesses a tombstone. In Paris there is a monument to departed Strassburg and on the city's birthday large mourning wreaths are hung on the statue. France is spending billions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of lives to get Strassburg back. It is fine to be so popular, but as the Strassburger sits in his cellar waiting for the solid shot and shrapnel festivities to begin he doubtless wishes that he could be overlooked for a little while.

Strassburg is a beautiful old city, with quaint, handsome houses, built long before plumbing was heard of, and a cathedral with a spire 465 feet high. It has a university, a library with 800,000 volumes in it, and large numbers of fine new buildings, which are completely overlooked by the tourists in their eagerness to find the rheumatic old restaurants with the hand-carved fronts.

Strassburg manufactures energetically and also fattens geese for the pate de foie gras business. It has more canals than railroads and had a harbor of 210 acres connected with the Rhine two miles away. American economists who sob over the folly of improving American rivers should take one look at the shipping at Strassburg, which comes from the narrow gauge, insignificant little Rhine, and then play upon their blouses with a fire extinguisher.

Bird Steals Fishermen's Catch.

A party of ice fishermen here had an unusual experience with a fish hawk. They had caught several pickerel which were laid out on the ice.

One of the party noticed the great bird circling overhead, and suddenly it swooped down upon the pile of fish. The bird devoured half a pickerel in a flash and was eating ravenously at the rest of it when the fishermen rushed to save their catch. The bird was shoed into the air, only to come down again and take another fish and make way with it. It is the first instance reported in years where the fishermen had to combat with birds in saving their catch.—Boston Globe.

An Intelligent Statesman.

"What will we do when the trees are destroyed?" asked the forestry experts.

"I suppose," answered the serenely solemn statesman, after some thought, "that in such an event we will be obliged to depend for wood entirely on the lumber yards."

The Versatile Farmer.

"As a matter of fact the farmer is one of the very few men who are qualified to be called 'all round men.' His roofless workshop is at a distance from communities of any considerable size, hence he naturally and almost insensibly becomes a master, in part at least, of practically all the trades and professions; not because he is miserly or lacking in funds but because he must grapple with things at first hand.

He becomes perforce a bricklayer, carpenter, plumber, butcher, sheepherder, swineherd, hunter, veterinary surgeon, dentist, well driller, bacteriologist, entomologist, meteorologist, horticulturist, agriculturist, pomologist and at times minister, tinsmith, watchmaker, harnessmaker, banker, doctor, lawyer and even, on occasion, an undertaker.—Craftsmen.

What do I see in baby's eyes?
Shut tight! shut tight!
The blue is gone, the light is hid;
I'll lay a soft kiss on each lid.

MAID IS DISPUTED BY MRS. CARMAN

Accused Woman Denies Celia Coleman's Testimony.

TELLS STORY OF DICTAGRAPH

She Also Testifies Regarding Slapping of Nurse and Being Ordered by Husband to Stay Out of His Office—But She Was Not Jealous, She Says.

Mineola, L. L., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Florence Carman, accused of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey at Freeport June 30, took the stand in her own behalf at 4:44 o'clock in the afternoon.

In his opening statement to the jury Attorney Levy declared for the defense. "We will prove that this crime was not committed by Mrs. Carman, but by a man, whose motive we do not know."

Mrs. Carman, in her own defense, denied that she fired the shot that killed Mrs. Bailey in her husband's office.

"I went to the city on the morning of June 30. My mother and little girl, Elizabeth, were with me. I returned about 7 o'clock. I went directly home," Mrs. Carman testified. "I went up stairs, took off my things and washed up. During supper I went to the door once. I don't know who was in the waiting room. I saw a strange man. There were some women in the waiting room. I had a headache."

Denies Going to Rear of House.

"My headache continued during dinner and I went right up stairs to bed afterward. The first thing I heard after retiring was Elizabeth practicing and I told her to stop. The next thing I heard was this noise. I do not know whether it was glass or a shot. I ran to the banister and looked down stairs. Then I went to the clothes closet and got a heavy kimono. I don't know whether or not I had a light in the room. Down stairs in the waiting room I stood by the mantel till I heard the doctor's voice, then I went back up stairs. From where I stood by the mantel I could not see into the office."

"As soon as I heard the doctor's voice I went up stairs. Elizabeth was up stairs and my sister came and said a woman had been shot in the office and no one knew who she was."

"That conversation occurred in the bed room. Elizabeth was there and mother came right up afterward. Dr. Rumbach came after my sister had telephoned my father to come."

"Did you go to the rear of the house at any time?" Mr. Levy, her lawyer asked.

"I did not," Mrs. Carman answered positively.

Forbidden to Visit Office.

"Was there any reason you did not go into the office at the time you stood by the mantel piece?"

"Why the time we had that trouble about the nurse the doctor was very angry and he told me I must never come in; that I would break up his practice."

Tells of Dictagraph.

"Yes, I had a dictagraph installed in the doctor's office on May 19 this year because I was suspicious of the doctor. On occasions when we were out together I heard women ask how the doctor's girls were and tell how their husbands stayed out all night. They called him a devil and I wanted to find out the truth. Then I saw some patients coming so often that I determined to find out what the truth was. I was not as crazy jealous as the newspapers have made me. I wanted to be absolutely sure of the truth. If the rumors were true, I was not going to get a divorce but I decided not to live with the doctor as man and wife."

Mrs. Carman gave a detailed account of the experiments with the dictagraph and of her conversation with the manager of the General Acoustic company regarding the instrument. She admitted telling the dictagraph people she was a dressmaker, but afterward told them she was a doctor's wife.

Took Dictagraph Out July 1.

"On July 1 the dictagraph was taken out, wasn't it?"

"Yes I did it. I took out the part in the doctor's office early in the morning and put it in the attic. I did that because I did not want the doctor to know I was jealous."

"On the night of June 30," Mrs. Carman said, "I did not listen on the dictagraph. I usually listened on the instrument when some one was in the office who was in the habit of coming regularly. I did not listen to strangers."

Denies Maid's Testimony.

In answer to questions by her attorney Mrs. Carman denied she ever owned a revolver, except a small one kept in a drawer. She denied categorically all the incriminating testimony of Celia Coleman given against her.

Vote for John E. Moyer for Treasurer.

Fred Dimick, candidate for County Clerk on the Republican ticket.

SYMPATHY

Copyright, Puck
By MAX MERRYMAN.

THE Lady with the mourning veil reaching to the hem of her gown entered the car at Kalamazoo and sat down directly in front of a sailow, hatchet-faced woman with a palpably false front which had slipped away so that the parting was in the neighborhood of her left ear. Her hat of many and gorgeous colors had slid down to her right ear, and she bore evidences of having traveled far. She had the eager look of a woman who wants to know things and who seeks information by questions as probing as an X-ray machine. No sooner had the lady with the outward and apparent signs of recent bereavement seated herself comfortably than she of the "want to know" type leaned forward, laid an ungloved and unclean hand on the shoulder of the lady in black, and said:

"Was it recent?"
"I—I—beg pardon; did you speak to me?"

"Yes, I did. I asked was it recent? A widder, I take it, from the veil?"

"Yes, I am a widder."

"Well, I'm one that kin feel for you. Been a widder myself 'many a time an' oft,' as the sayin' is. Was he sick long?"

"No; only a week or two."

"Well, I had one that went that way. Then I had one—that lingered. Dunno which is wuss. Somehow you kin never say that you are really prepared for it, no matter whether they linger or go sudden. Whattailed him?"

"Fever."

"I want to know! Well, I reckon you done all you could for him. There's allus a satisfaction in feelin' that. I had five-different doctor's for one o' mine, so I hadn't nothin' to regret. Your man leave a will?"

"Excuse me, but—"

"Three."

"I want to know! Well, I hope they'll be a comfort to you, but you can't tell. I got nine, an' I can't say that they've been no gret-of comfort so fur. My oldest girl was just beginnin' to airn her three-an-half a week when she up and run away with a grocer's delivery-man an' married him, so I couldn't expect nothin' from her. My oldest boy was only twenty-one when he up an' married an old-maid school-teacher in the thirties. I reckon she thought it was a case o' the last car. Yes, an' I reckon further that she wishes she'd let that cargo by, fer they been as pore as Job's turkey for a long time, his health givin' out an' her savin's givin' out, too. I reckon you got your third's of your husband's prop'ty?"

No reply.

"I got a widder's sort to have half, an' they say they do in some States, but I didn't happen to be livin' in any of them States when any o' mine went. Didn't make much difference, fer none o' them had much more than enough to bury 'em, an' one o' 'em didn't have that. I reckon you'll put up a tombstun?"

"Excuse me, madam, but—"

"I got tombstuns up so two o' mine, but I ain't seen the time when I could put up one to my third. I give a strawberry festival 'an' raised money enough that way to most payfer the stun I set up for my second. We had slathers an' seeds o' strawberries on our place, an' no one else seemed to have any that year, so I ve a strawberry supper an' charged a quarter a head an' got my second's tombstun head that way. 'Some folks thought it rather queer way to git tombstun money, but I didn't see that it was no wuss than the Cemetery Association in our town havin' a ball an' oyster supper to raise money for a new hearse. But some folks would of talked if I'd raised my money sellin' Bibles. I bet that veils o' yours cost a purty sum. It's real scape, ain't it?"

Silence.

"I couldn't afford only a kind of a cotton crape for my mine, an' you know it turns kind of yellow. They say that wearin' mournin' is goin' out, anyhow. The way I look at it, a widder oughtn't to put on black unless her grief is realy felt. If there's heart in it, I reckon it's all right to mourn, but—was she conscious at the last?"

"Madam, you really—"

"My first was, but my second was kind o' dopy, an' my third didn't have no time to be either. Fer he fell head first down a ninety-foot well, an' I reckon he never knowed what hurt him—pore critter. Sometimes I feel that it's just as well to have 'em go that way. It saves them, an' it saves you a good deal. Of course it ain't pleasant to have 'em go at all, but we have to all come to some day. Still, I feel to sympathize with them what's bereaved, an' the minnit you came into the car I made up my mind I'd give you my sympathy. Of course, sympathy can't bring 'em back, but it You plan to go on keepin' house, I reckon?"

No reply.

"I think it's best—specially when there's children. You think at first that home never kin be home no more, but you git over that, specially if you marry ag'in, an' you— Well, now, I wouldn't guess you to be over thirty-eight or forty at most, an' a woman o' that age with a little prop'ty kin easily marry—"

But the other widow had gone into the next car.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER RELEASED BY BRITAIN

Prospects of Shipping Controversy with U. S. Dispelled.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The prospects of a serious controversy between the United States and Great Britain over shipping questions were largely dispelled by the announcement by the British embassy that the British government had ordered the release of the Standard Oil ship John D. Rockefeller, seized off the Orkney Islands while carrying oil to Denmark.

This action came in prompt response to the vigorous protest of the state department against the seizure of the vessel and requesting its immediate release. Because of the circumstances of the case it now seems probable that the British government will desist from any effort to prevent shipments of American oil in American vessels reaching Denmark because of its suspicions that such cargoes are ultimately to find their way to the German forces for use in its transportation and air craft. Had this apparent intention been persisted in there is little doubt that a serious controversy would have resulted as the United States government considers such seizures as that of the John D. Rockefeller as contrary to the rights of American shippers and vessels and in violation of the rules of maritime war. While there are still two other cases of seizure of American oil ships yet undisposed of the grounds on which these seizures were made were different so that less apprehension is felt as to their consequences.

ROBINS DENIES STATEMENT

(Associated Press.)

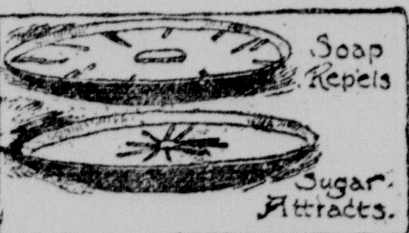

Peoria, Oct. 23.—Before the State Federation of Labor, Raymond Robins today denied the statement that he never had a union card. He said he worked in the Tennessee mines before the miners organized and later had a card in the gold miners organization in Colorado.

Attraction and Repulsion.

Get a saucer of water, a small piece of loaf sugar, a small piece of soap and a number of bits of matches or toothpicks, and you are ready for an interesting experiment. First place some of the bits of wood in the water in the saucer so they will float; we will call them boys. Now drop the piece of soap in the water among the "boys" and see how they will run away from it. Boys don't like soap, you understand.

Now take a fresh saucer of water and drop some new match-bits into it and call them girls. Next drop the piece of sugar into the water and see how the girls will run up to it and stick there. This shows the difference between boys and girls.

Perhaps you would like to know why the little bits of wood behave so differently in the two cases. Without going into deep scientific explanations the long and short of it is that the soap in dissolving causes an oily film to spread over the surface of the water, and this film in radiating from the centre carries the sticks with it. The sugar in dissolving acts in a different way; the dissolved sugar being heavier than the water, settles to the bottom, causing a slight current toward the centre of the saucer from the edges and carrying the sticks with it. The action in either case soon ceases.

Drum and Folios

FAMILY THEATRE

The Broadway Comedy Trio opened at the Family last evening and at once found favor with their audience. Their voices are pleasing, harmonize well and their selections were all well chosen. Their program is interspersed with enough good comedy to make it pleasing and is not overdone. The David Duo, billed as a little of every thing in the variety line, have a good act, which is principally club throwing and juggling and their work was exceptionally good, especially that done on the slack wire. Both acts are good and are bound to please. Pictures tonight are: Seven Sealed Orders, a military drama in two reels, and A Matter of Record.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight the Princess will show a fine two reel feature entitled "The Wireless Voice," a Romance drama with Frank Bennett, Vester Pegg and Irene Hunt in the leading roles. This is a story of the wireless telephone, and in this picture you see the newest of these intricate devices with a story of love and romance. The Mutual Weekly is a film of interesting incidents and with "The Motherless Kids" a Beauty film with Marguerite Fisher and Harry Pollard in the leading roles makes up a program of remarkable merit.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

One of the greatest treats in pictures will be shown at the opera house this evening, "Richeleu," the great four reel 1913 Bison drama with Murdock MacQuarrie and Pauline Bush as hero and heroine. A picture that they have been getting 25c admission for everywhere in Chicago will be shown here tonight at the usual price, 5c. It is one of the most stupendous productions known to the film world. Dealing with the great Cardinal Richeleu who was responsible for the famous saying, "The pen is mightier than the sword," it shows the most interesting situations of French intrigue, with an intensely interesting romance intermingled.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Burnt Fingers.

Once she had lost touch with her father's creatures, the girl drew rein and went on more slowly and cautiously.

Below her, in the valley, the lower trail wound its facile way. From time to time she could discern upon some naked stretch of its length a cloud of dust, or perhaps three mounted figures, scurrying madly on with fear of death snapping at their heels.

It was within an hour of midnight, a night bell-clear and bitter cold on the heights, and bright with moonlight, when Alan's party made its last pause and camped to rest against the dawn, unconscious of the fact that, a quarter of a mile above them, on the upper trail, a lonely woman paused when they paused and made her own camp on the edge of a sharp declivity.

The level shafts of the rising sun awakened her. She sat up, rubbed her eyes, yawned, stretched limbs stiff with the hardship of sleeping on an unyielding, sun-baked earth—and of a sudden started up, surprised by the grating of footsteps on the earth behind her.

Before she could turn, however, she was caught and wrapped in the arms of Hopi Jim.

She mustered all her strength and wits and for one last struggle—and in a frenzied moment managed to break his hold a trifle, enough to enable her to snatch at the pistol hanging from her belt and present it at his head.

But it exploded harmlessly, spending its bullet on the blue of the morning sky. The bandit caught her wrist in time, thrust it aside and subjected it to such cruel pressure and such savage wrenchings that the pistol dropped from fingers numbed with pain.

And now all hint of mercy left his eyes; remained only the glare of rage. He put forth all his strength in turn, and Judith was as a child in his hands. In half a minute he had her helpless, in as much time more her back was breaking across his knee, while he bound her with loop after loop of his rawhide lariat.

Then, leaving her momentarily supine on the ground, Hopi Jim caught and unhobbed her horse, and without troubling to saddle it, lifted the girl to its back, and placed her there, face upward, catching her hands and feet, as they fell on either flank of the animal, with more loops of that unbreakable rawhide, and deftly placing the master knot of the hitch that bound this human pack well beyond possibility of her reach.

She panted a prayer for mercy. He laughed in her face, bent and kissed her brutally, and stepped back laughing to admire his handiwork.

Thus he stood for an instant between the horse and the edge of the declivity, a fair mark, stark against the sky, for one who stood in the valley below, holding his rifle with eager fingers, waiting for just such opportunity with the same impatience with which he had waited for it ever since the noise of debris kicked over the edge by the struggling man and woman had drawn his attention to what was going on above.

Alan pressed the trigger and the shot sounded clear in the morning stillness, Judith saw a look of aggrieved amazement cross the face of Hopi Jim Slade.

Then he threw his hands out, clawed blindly at the air, staggered, reeled against the horse's flank so heavily that it shied in fright, and abruptly shot from sight over the edge of the bluff.

CHAPTER XL.

The Man in the Shadow.

Two hundred feet, if one, Hopi Jim fell from the lip of the cliff. Then suddenly the thing that had been Hopi Jim Slade was checked in its headlong descent by the outstanding trunk of a tree, over which it remained, doubled up, limp, horrible.

The miniature landslide that had been caused by his fall went on, settling gradually as the slope became less sheer. Only part of it, a double handful of pebbles, gained the bottom of the canyon.

Its muffled impact on the ground round his feet roused the man who had compassed the bandit's death from the pose he had unconsciously assumed on the instant of firing.

He stepped back, and snatched up a case containing binoculars.

Not before the glasses were adjusted to his vision did he find time to respond absently to the alarmed and insistent inquiries of his two companions, a man of his own age and a girl of some years less, who had been awakened from their sleep by the report of the rifle.

Now the latter plucked his sleeve, momentarily deflecting the glasses from the object which they were following so sedulously as it moved along the heights; a wildly running horse with a woman bound helpless upon its back, both sharply in silhouette against the burning blue.

"Alan!" the girl demanded, "what is it? Why did you fire? Why won't you answer me? What is it?"

"Judith," Alan replied tersely, again picking up with the glasses the runaway horse that fled so madly along the perilous and narrow track of the hill trail.

A good sized audience was present to greet him and none were dissatisfied with their evening's pastime. Mr. Willis is a very good impersonator and gave imitations of various nationalities during his program.

Fred Schroeder of Amboy was calling upon his many friends and old neighbors in West Brooklyn on Monday.

Mr. Schroeder is enjoying much better health of late than he has for some time and this fact is greatly appreciated by every one in West Brooklyn who has ever become known to that family. He was accompanied here by his son William of Compton.

Bernardin of our village and the happy news will be received with pleasure by their many friends here. After November 1st the young couple will be at home at 604 Fourth Avenue. They were married on Wednesday, Oct. 21, 1914. The writer joins with every resident of this community in extending hearty congratulations.

M. M. Fell and S. R. Cooper of Rochelle were in West Brooklyn on Tuesday, the former in the interests of the local agency of the Illinois Life Insurance company. Mr. Fell is the manager for the North Central District, of which West Brooklyn forms a part.

West Brooklyn has a name through out this part of the state of never doing things in halves. That's one reason why our people are as fit these days preparing for the Lee County Farmers' Institute, to be held here on December 10th and 11th. Whatever you have to offer will be greatly appreciated by the soliciting committee who are after all the premiums they can secure in order to have all the more prizes to offer in the various competing contests. Therefore if you have a farm to give for the best corn displayed at the institute, or a team of horses, or some fancy poultry, or produce, or anything else, do not be backward about offering your gift to the soliciting committee. Just tell M. J. Bieschke about it and he will see that your donation is given the proper attention and appreciation. Now, then, we don't want all these donations and no one to give them to so let each of you prepare some exhibit for the institute and make an earnest endeavor to win some of the prizes offered. In these methods lies the success of the institute and the good you receive from the two days' session lies in the fact that you are interested in the work and that you are at the two days. Let all be boosters for the best institute Lee county ever had.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gehant and family motored to West Brooklyn on Wednesday.

We are sorry to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. Ed. V. Bauer. It is the wish of her many friends and acquaintances in the vicinity that she will soon change for the better and experience an ultimate recovery.

Harr's orchestra went to Maytown on Wednesday evening to furnish music for a dancing party to be held at that place.

Many of the farmers of this vicinity are losing their hogs again. It appears to be kidney trouble this time that has taken hold of the swine and it seems to go through the entire herd like cholera. We hope the disease does not reach the proportions it did a year ago, for at that time many thousands of dollars worth of hogs were lost by the farmers of this vicinity with a disease which affected the lungs.

Mathias Haub Jr. was in West Brooklyn transacting business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Gehant and daughter Ruth returned home on Monday night from Kankakee where they had been since Friday as the guests of their daughter Mae who is a student at St. Joseph's Seminary. They found the young lady making excellent progress in her studies and enjoying her new surroundings very much. She will return for a few days' vacation at Thanksgiving.

Bear in mind the big preparations being made for the big dance in the opera house on the eve of Thanksgiving by the firemen.

Joseph Graf was in West Brooklyn transacting business on Monday afternoon.

Are you preparing an exhibit for the Lee County Farmers' Institute to be held this year in West Brooklyn, on December 10th and 11th? If you haven't corn, bring pumpkins, vegetables or cooking. Bring something to assist in making the institute another big success for West Brooklyn. Your efforts will be rewarded, too, for remember the $125 to be spent for cash prizes beside the various other premiums offered.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if Kidneys feel like lead or Bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so that you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diaepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diaepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

By HOLLAND.

SOUNDS good, doesn't it? And the best of it is it is true. These cash dividends are paid on every dollar you spend, provided you spend wisely and buy goods that the maker believes in so strongly that he advertises them.

Advertised goods are not always the cheapest so far as the amount asked for them is concerned. But they are INvariably the BEST. And this makes them cheapest when all things are considered.

When you buy for the same money a better article than you have been buying you get a cash dividend on your purchase. When you pay less for an article of the same quality you get a cash dividend.

THESE DIVIDENDS ARE PAID TO THE READERS OF ADVERTISEMENTS IN THIS PAPER.

CORD FASTENER.

Twist or Two Makes String Hold as Securely as If Tied.

A cord fastener that holds as securely as a knot, but can be opened and tied with a twist or two of the wrist, has been devised by a Washington man. One end of the cord is fastened to a plate, which has a button loosely riveted to it. The button is just close enough to the plate to allow a cord to be squeezed under it. The cord may be wrapped around a parcel of envelopes, cards, or any other parcel in the ordinary way, but when it comes to making the free end fast it can be pulled under the button and wound around it. In this way there is no knot to untie when the parcel is to be opened, but the cord can quickly be unwound, and will answer to tie up the package another time. Such a device is particularly useful to lawyers, agents, or any persons who have large bundles of papers to carry which they find it necessary to consult often. In their cases it would prove both a nuisance and a waste of time, and the fastener here described is just the thing they need. —Washington Star.

Animals That Reason.

The president of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals is collecting instances of animal reasoning. The following are instances he has authenticated:

A banker had a jackdaw that was interested in croquet. As soon as the bird heard the click of the balls he would swoop down and watch the game tentatively from a hedge. And when the players stopped the jackdaw would begin to play himself. He would take a ball and push it with beak and claws toward the "cage," or middle wicket, and he would not be content with merely putting the ball through—he would work away till he had succeeded in ringing the bell that hung from the cage's top.

A Philadelphia elephant is fond of cakes. Often when a cake is thrown to him it will lodge under the bar of his house in such a way that neither he nor the thrower can reach it. In this dilemma the elephant always puts his trunk down near the cake and blows it out upon the floor, whence the thrower may again heave it.

A Chicagoan has a retriever, Jack, who has been artined to fetch slippers. Jack one day was bad and they turned him out of the room. Ashamed and dejected he went away. He knew that he pleased his master by fetching the slippers. Therefore, to atone for his misconduct, he brought now all the slippers and shoes he could find and laid them in a heap before the door. When his master opened the door finally there sat Jack looking up wistfully and wagging his tail, while beside him lay some thirty shoes and slippers.

An old bay mare had a field to herself. One day a lot of calves intruded upon her privacy. The mare looked at the calves in amazement. Then she went slowly around the field until she found the gap in the fence through which they had come in. Now she steered the intruders, one by one, to the gap, and, taking each by the back of the neck, shoved it forth into the road again.

Birds that eat shellfish, when they cannot open their oyster or clam or mussel otherwise, fly towards a rock, and, hovering high in the air, break the shell by dropping it on the rock with accuracy. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

NO MORE HEADACHE, BAD COLDS, SOUR STOMACH AND CONSTIPATION.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowel clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermented food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

genious model, says The London Globe, to show why a cat in fallow invariably alights on its feet. This model, roughly speaking, consists of a cardboard cylinder wherein are stuck four rods to serve for legs, together with a tail devised on similar principles. The object of the experiment is to show that a feline's peculiar faculty depends on the rotation of its tail with sufficient vigor. This faculty is specially developed by climbing and leaping animals, such as members of the cat tribe, monkeys, squirrels, rats and small lemurs. As already stated, the tail plays an important part in the turning process. According to the investigator all tree-inhabiting monkeys have long tails, and there is not the slightest doubt that these tails are of great aid to serve as a balancer, as evidenced in the case of a squirrel, which may be seen walking along a tightly-stretched wire or string, swinging its tail from side to side, much after the manner of a tight-rope walker balancing himself with a nola.

The situation as presented to the electors of Illinois is that they will be called upon to choose next November between Senator Sherman, a Republican, and two Democrats, one of whom swears allegiance to President Wilson and the other allegiance to Colonel Roosevelt. —Macomb Journal.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING.

DIXON PEOPLE SHOULD NOT NEGLECT THEIR KIDNEYS.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To relieve the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Here is convincing proof of merit. It comes from this locality. Mrs. J. H. Boehm, 906 Fourth Ave., Sterling, Ill., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for years, and think they are the best kidney remedy to be had. Although I never had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills myself, I can confirm the public statement I gave some years ago in their favor. One of the family had trouble from his back and kidneys. The kidney action was irregular and his back hurt him. Finally, he used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Perry's Drug Store, and they gave him relief."

The above is not an isolated case. Mrs. Boehm is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Boehm recommends. 50c all stores. CONGRESS HELD BY FILIBUSTER

Southern Cotton Senators Delay Adjournment.

NO QUORUM POINT IS MADE

President Wilson and Leader Underwood Lose Control of Senate—Majority of Each House Has Gone Home, and It Requires Quorum for Adjournment.

Washington, Oct. 23.—President Wilson and the Democratic leaders lost control of congress, failing in their efforts to force an adjournment at 6 o'clock last evening. As a result congress now finds itself confronted with a situation which has resulted in the defeat of legislation that the president and the federal reserve board have deemed essential to the strengthening of the finances of the country. So important was this legislation regarded that Chairman Glass of the house banking and currency committee expressed the fear that its failure might result in a further delay to the establishment of the new banking system.

Reserve Bank Bill in Air.
The bills that have failed in spite of the urgent wishes of the president and the federal reserve board for their enactment were the one increasing the amount of loans which reserve banks might make on commercial paper from 30 to 100 per cent of their unimpaired capital and surplus and another which permits the member banks to keep their reserves with the federal reserve banks instead of in their own vaults. The latter measure was designed to assist in mobilizing the reserves permitting of concentration in twelve centers instead of being scattered through a large number of banks.

Smith Starts Filibuster.
A filibuster was started in the middle of the afternoon when Senator Hoke Smith made an impassioned plea for the passage of the cotton ware house bill, the bill relating to reserves and the measure authorizing banks to issue emergency notes up to 100 per cent of commercial paper. Senator Smith insisted these measures were necessary to save the south from bankruptcy.

The leaders of the senate were very anxious concerning the war revenue bill, and when they saw the filibuster coming they hurried the measure through the senate, taking the cotton senators unawares, who had planned to hold it up.

The bill got through the senate in the middle of the afternoon, but it had to be signed first by the speaker of the house and afterwards by the president pro tem of the senate. In each case it was necessary for a quorum to be present when the presiding officer attached his signature. A bare quorum was rallied in the house and Speaker Clark promptly signed the bill. It came back to the senate at 5:20 o'clock after the senate had been in recess.

Clarke Signs Revenue Bill.
Senator Hoke Smith made ready to make the point of no quorum. Anticipating this move, Senator Clarke of Arkansas, the presiding officer, refused to recognize Senator Smith, but seized a pen and began to write his signature on the bill. Senator Smith was shouting at the top of his voice demanding recognition and warning the chair that there was no quorum present and that the bill could not be signed under the circumstances.

"I will recognize the senator from Georgia," calmly observed President Pro Tem Clarke, "but I am going to sign this bill first."

"It won't be much of a bill if it is signed in that way," snarled Senator Overman of North Carolina, one of the cotton insurrectionists.

Having announced his signature to the bill the president pro tem then recognized Senator Smith, who made the point of no quorum. Senator Clarke calmly disregarded the complaining cotton senator.

Within twenty minutes thereafter the bill was laid before President Wilson, who attached his signature. Defeated in the attempt to hold up the war revenue bill, the cotton senators determined that they would not allow congress to adjourn. In line with this plan they voted earlier in the afternoon on a motion of Senator Smith to table a resolution coming from the house providing for adjournment at 6 o'clock. This was an unusual thing, and under some circumstances would be regarded as a rank discourtesy to the co-ordinate branch of congress.

1,000 Germans Interned.
New York, Oct. 23.—More than 1,000 Germans of all classes, from merchants to waiters, have been interned in a public park near Johannesburg, South Africa, by British authorities, as a result of reported activities of German agents among natives, according to C. Eaton of Tacoma, Wash., who recently left South Africa and arrived here on the steamer Adriatic from Liverpool.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—Announcement was made by the state board of equalization that the assessment on the capital stock of railroads would not be decreased for 1914, but in some instances would be raised. This action is taken in spite of strong representations made by the railroads that earnings have decreased and passenger receipts impaired because of an increase in passenger business of the electric roads.

Russ Report Great Victories.

Petrograd, Oct. 23.—In a statement reviewing the fighting around Warsaw the official news bureau says:

"The Russian troops displayed exceptional energy in coming to the defense of Warsaw and saving the city from a German bombardment. The Russian concentration was effected with greater swiftness than was demanded by strategical reasons.

"Documents taken from prisoners who were captured during the fighting near Warsaw show that the Germans were confident of entering that city between Oct. 15 and 17.

"The Siberian regiments arriving at Warsaw were immediately sent to the front. During their bayonet charges at night, in the forest of Motondolovsk, the Siberian soldiers took many prisoners belonging to the Twenty-first German corps.

"The Seventeenth German corps and some of their reserve troops, who attempted to push forward in the region between Blonie and Prouschkoff, suffered severely. It was there that the Siberian troops, together with other Russian forces, inflicted terrible losses on the enemy. Many villages in the vicinity were taken and retaken in hand to hand fighting.

"In engagements near Kozenica the Caucasian regiments also gave proof of extraordinary courage. For eight days these regiments were fighting on the left bank of the Vistula, in the marshes, where the trenches were constantly under water. Here they sustained the fire of the enemy's heavy artillery, but all the German attacks were repulsed.

Several regiments suffered severe losses and one regiment had three commanders seriously wounded, one after another.

"The direction of the great battle going on to the south of Przemysl, which has been under way for six days, is in the hands of General Brusiloff. The Austrian losses have been enormous. Many prisoners have been taken, including both Austrians and Germans."
